

ABSTRACT

Methods and apparatuses for providing service availability information to a waiting customer using the customer's wireless device are generally introduced herein.